

W. P. WALTON.

The elders appointed to investigate the Reid-Cornellion cowardly affair reported to the Christian church at Mt. Sterling that that after due consideration they could find not the least shadow of an excuse or palliation for the assault; that Cornellion has shown no evidence of the repentance they deem necessary for such an offense against the Church and society at large and that therefore the fellowship of the Church is withdrawn from him and he is no longer a member of the congregation. Cornellion demands a new trial by an impartial committee and protests against "the ex parte, star chamber verdict." Somehow or other Cornellion is not making as much reputation as he imagined his cowardly act would bring him and he begins to feel that it has brought disgrace instead.

The special grand jury appointed to investigate the Cincinnati riot and the causes leading to it have reported. They found 54 indictments, the most prominent being that of Mr. T. C. Campbell, for attempt to bribe a juror in the Berner case. This man Campbell, though a politician of some local importance, is said to have resorted in many criminal cases to the lowest methods of the pettifogger and to have been mainly instrumental in bringing about the lax administration of laws towards criminals, which was the prime cause of the mob. The respectable lawyers of the city are trying to disbar him from the practice and a committee to investigate his actions looking to that result has been appointed. He is a disgrace to the fraternity, if half of the reports of him are true.

SPEAKER CARLISLE in a letter acknowledging the resolutions passed by the Kentucky convention recommending him as a candidate for President, says: "Although the delegations from Missouri, Texas and Michigan and many friends from other States have manifested a disposition to present my name to the Chicago convention, I have never permitted myself to indulge in the hope that the nomination would go south of the old slave line. The public mind of the North is still sensitive upon questions connected with the late war and our friends will, doubtless, think it unadvisable to take a candidate from the South, at least so long as the republicans continue to take both of theirs from the North."

A NEW and enlarged edition of Maj. Henry T. Stanton's "Moneyless Man and Other Poems," which will include a number of productions which have not heretofore appeared in print, is now in the press of Robert Clarke & Co., Cincinnati, and will be ready for delivery in about ten days. The book will contain about 200 pages, will be handsomely printed and bound and for $1.50 forwarded to the publishers it will be sent postpaid to any address. The one poem of "The Moneyless Man" is more than worth the money, and Kentuckians especially should show their appreciation of their distinguished poet by possessing themselves of a volume of his matchless productions.

The usual complimentary speeches marked the closing hours of the Legislature. Everybody thanked everybody else and promised to meet on the other shore. This was well. Not many of them, praise God, will ever meet in a legislative capacity again and on the other shore they are at liberty to meet and do all the devilment they wish.

THERE can be no excuse for the raid on the treasury in the interest of Grant, and the bill retiring him with the rank of General at $19,000 is a swindle on the American people. If the Government is going into the business of reimbursing every man who loses money stock gambling, she will have plenty to do for a few months at least.

A PANIC seems imminent in Wall street. A dozen or more large brokers and several banks have failed this week and stocks have dropped out of sight. It is to be earnestly hoped that the scenes and results of 1873 will not be repeated.

We give a synopsis of the new school law on our fourth page. It is a decided improvement on the old one and looks as if our children can get a pretty fair education under it without the assistance of the Federal Government.

LOUISVILLE now has an elevated railroad. It connects the Chesapeake & Ohio with the Chesapeake & Southwestern R. R. and runs along the river front. The quiet little town is beginning to put on metropolitan airs.

The Legislature was in session 134 days and cost the State $1,500 per day, total $201,000. An exceedingly bad investment when we consider the amount of real good it has done.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

—Charles O'Connor the eminent lawyer is dead. —The Cincinnati News Journal is offered for sale by Chas. M. Steele, Receiver. —J. L. Taylor & Co., clothiers, of Paris, Ky., have assigned for the benefit of creditors. —Willard's Hotel, at Washington City, was partly destroyed by fire. Loss about $15,000. —John M. Palmer, at Oveston, for the murder of Ben Crutcher, got 21 years. He is aged 55. —One of Charles O'Connor's latest acts was the payment of the town debt of Nautucket. He refused to let himself be known in the matter, and the fact was only brought out by his death.

—Foreman Shaw, of the Berner jury, at Cincinnati, was indicted and arrested, charged with perjury. —Isaac Ebreli, of New York, fatally shot his wife, shot his son dead and then blew out his own brains. —Fred Grant, in an interview, acknowledges himself a fool, and classes his father and brother in the same category. —The New York Tribune says that the real liabilities of the Marine Bank of Grant & Ward may exceed $15,000,000. —It is intimated that Gresham, Edmunds and Lincoln have good chances as dark horses on the republican Presidential track. —The New York republicans have sent out a warning that the Chicago nominee must be entirely unobjectionable to that State. —The brand-new manufacturing town of Sheffield, Ala., had a three days' sale of lots, closing last Saturday, which netted over $250,000. —Tully R. Wise, a prominent attorney of San Francisco, and a brother of Geo. D. Wise, Congressman from Virginia, died Monday night. —Gov. Knott has pardoned two of the Armstrong boys who were sentenced to the penitentiary for life from Todd county three years ago. —Part of the roof of the Pennsylvania Tunnel, under the Alleghany Mountains, caved in, killing three men and injuring badly three others. —The Metropolitan Bank, Hatch & Foote and numerous other Wall street houses went in the crash Wednesday. Losses over $20,000,000. —The House Committee on elections will report in favor of seating Wallace, the contestant in the Ohio election case of Wallace vs. McKinley. —The Senate, without debate, has passed the bill placing General Grant upon the retired list of army officers. A like measure will probably pass the House to-day. —At Marshall, Mo., Monday night hail fell to the depth of three inches. Show windows were broken in nearly all the stores and crops were damaged greatly. —Speaker Carlisle predicts that the democratic nominee for Presidency will be a tariff reformer, and intimates that Joseph E. McDonald will suit him. —Fifteen persons were killed in a wreck near Cornselleville, Pa. upon the B. & O. railroad and twelve others injured. The cars burned and a number of people were roasted to death. —The Atchleys and the Tucketts fought at a dance in Madison county, Ala. One of the Tucketts was killed and another fatally wounded, and two of the Atchleys were perhaps mortally wounded. —The saw mills of the Kentucky Lumber Company, at Williamsburg, on the Cumberland river, were destroyed by fire Sunday. The buildings covered several acres of ground and were valued at $60,000. Insurance $40,000. —The gross earnings of the Cincinnati Southern Division of the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway in April amounted to $211,495.77, against $173,116.25 in the corresponding period in 1883. This shows an increase of $38,379.52. —The Knights of Honor are in Supreme meeting at Chicago. Thirty six States, and seven Territories are represented and a membership of over 100,000 is reported. The death benefits paid out last year amount to three millions of dollars. —The bill to establish civil government in Alaska, was passed by the House. It provides for the appointment of a Governor and establishes a District Court, to sit at Sitka, which is designated as the temporary capital, and also at Wrangell. —The trial of George B. Letcher, for the killing of Dr. Ennis, at Nicholasville, before special Judge DeHaven, progresses slowly. Out of a panel of fifty jurors, but four were accepted and a venire of 100 from Woodford and Fayette as ordered. —The jury in the case of Wm. Spence, who shot and killed his son-in-law, ex-United States Marshal Wheat, March 19, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. Spence's counsel entered a motion for a new trial, which will be argued next Monday, at Nashville. —A Washington dispatch says: Watterson said here to-day that he was now positively assured that the chairman of the New York delegation to the democratic convention at Chicago would go with a letter in his pocket signed by Samuel J. Tilden, stating that under no circumstances must his name be brought before the convention. —The Hewitt Tariff Bill excites no interest. The belief is that should it be reported to the House by the Ways and Means Committee it will be promptly killed. The bill is the Morrison Bill with the free list extended to include all art, with the horizontal cut as low in some cases as 10 per cent., and free raw material of every character not specially enumerated. The bill also provides for reducing the tax on fruit brandy to 10 cents per gallon. —The new Commissioners of the Eastern Lunatic Asylum Tuesday elected Larue Thoms, President; Charles Kimbrough, Secretary; Luther Eastin, Treasurer, and Mrs. Chensault, Matron. The new Secretary is a brother of a Commissioner, and the new Matron wife of the Superintendent. John T. Shelby, the old Secretary, and J. Fletcher Johnson, the old Treasurer, are summarily set aside. The nepotism complained of in the old board appears in the new. —Cyrus Hall McCormick, the great machinist, died at Chicago, leaving an estimated fortune of $20,000,000. Mr. McCormick was born February 15, 1809, in Rockbridge county, Va. His father was a farmer, and both his father and his mother were natives of Virginia and of Scotch-Irish descent. In the year 1816 the elder McCormick built a reaping machine, but so great were the improvements made by Cyrus that he was considered justly entitled to be called the "father" of the reaping machine.

—Hardy Grady, colored, was lynched in Effingham county, Ga., Monday night. He attempted to outrage a white woman. —In more than five thousand cases where chloroform was given in the surgical operation of the late Dr. Gross, not one accident occurred. —Mrs. Jessie Boyd Barnes, Louisville, Ky., brings suit for divorce from her husband, Willis Barnes, dentist, who some 18 months since shot and killed her brother Clarence Boyd. —Vins LaRue, a beautiful octoroon harlot, who has figured in many scandals the past three years, died at Louisville. She swelled and burst just as death ensued, and died in a terrible agony.

MT. VERNON DEPARTMENT.

Managed by Jno. B. Fish. —Corn is coming up very well this year. Scarcely any replanting will be necessary. —Our jail now has 9 inmates, 6 of whom are as good for the penitentiary as 10 cents is for a ginger cake, and the other 3 have a fighting chance for it. —At the examination to-day Dink Hiatt was released, the proof not being sufficient to hold him. The others had their time for examinations continued. —M. Peyton was in town Wednesday. Charley Phillips has been visiting at this place. Mrs. Jack Adams, Jr., and S. W. Paris and F. L. Thompson has returned from a fishing expedition. They brought a few fish. —A case of small-pox is reported by Dr. J. J. Brown. The subject is James Hiatt, colored, who recently returned from Louisville, where he had been living for some time. His body is a complete mass of sores and he is not expected to live. The colored people have been visiting him a good deal, and while it may be too late to do anything for this case, the county authorities ought to do something to prevent the spread of this loathsome disease, and do it at once. —E. L. Myers had his meat house broken into one night this week and about 200 pounds of bacon stolen therefrom. He at once suspected Ike Fish, of color, who had been working for him a short time previous. He came to town and went to the shoe-shop of Geo. W. Mills, also colored, where Ike had been in the habit of staying and there he found part of his meat. Mills claimed that he had bought the bacon from a man in the country, but could not tell his name. This seemed very suspicious and Mr. Myers had Mills, Fish and Dink Hiatt, another colored gentleman, who had been in the company of the two above named a great deal, arrested and all three were put in jail to await an examining trial, which was set for Thursday, to-day. Mills and Hiatt claim that they are as innocent as angels, of course, but Fish does not admit or deny his guilt or innocence.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—A game of Base ball played Wednesday evening between the "Dade" nine and the Centre College nine resulted in a victory for the College Club by a score of 18 to 9. —The Shamrock Oil men and the Common Sense Pill men, who are the same individuals, are here and hold forth nightly to large crowds, attracted more perhaps by the music of the four negro minstrels who belong to the party, than by what the medicine men say. —Mr. William King and Miss Kate Liston attended by Mr. Leslie Cox and Miss Mary Liston were married at St. Paul's church Tuesday morning, at 8 o'clock, by Rev. A. J. Brady. Mr. and Mrs. King have rooms for the present at the Central House. —Mr. Charles Phillips, received the sad intelligence of the death of his younger brother, Wm. F. Phillips, which occurred at the home of their parents in Ferrell, Texas, on the 6th inst. The local paper speaks of him as a model young man. He was only twenty-one years old. —The agent for the Mattie Lee Price combination was at the Clemons House Wednesday. The agent will be here on the 24th inst. and is said to be something wonderful in his line. Mr. Wood Wallace, formerly of this place, and Mr. Watt D. Coleman have opened a gents furnishing establishment in the Courier Journal building in Louisville. —Mrs. C. P. Cecil has returned from an absence of several weeks in Columbia, Tenn., where she has been visiting the family of her brother, Hon. W. C. Whitthorne. Mrs. Cropper and her daughter, Miss Effie, great favorites with Danville people, are here again after an absence of several months in Macon, Georgia. Mr. J. B. Owens, of Stanford, was at Gilcher's Tuesday. Judge Durham has been in Harrodsburg all week engaged in the prosecution of Pulliam for killing Hawkins, last winter. —Wednesday night when Dr. C. H. B. Martin, of the 24 Presbyterian church, and family returned from prayer-meeting they found their home in possession of a large assemblage of friends, chiefly members of the congregation. Japanese lanterns were suspended from the trees surrounding the house, the interior of which was also brilliantly illuminated. Upon entering the house Mr. and Mrs. Martin were addressed by Mr. J. W. Yerkes, who reminded them of the fact that the occasion was the 25th anniversary of their marriage, and after a few words of congratulation and the expression of the hope that they might live to celebrate many more such anniversaries, he presented them, in behalf of their friends, with two hundred new and bright silver dollars. Refreshments were served and a pleasant time generally had before the party dispersed. —It will be remembered that Mr. Pecksniff and the Misses Pecksniff could detect and point out the moral that was connected with anything and everything, even with "ham and eggs" on one occasion. If Mr. P. and his charming daughters were residents of Danville they would be asked by Jim Nichols, the artist, to point out the moral to be gathered from "demonium nonsense." Jim had some graining to do a few days ago, of a kind that lager beer is a necessary ingredient, in fact nothing else but the malt liquor referred to will answer the purpose. He went as has been his custom to the drug store where he purchases points and asked for the beer, telling the druggist what he wanted with it, but the druggist couldn't sell it to him without a prescription and as even the most learned of our physicians have not mastered the intricacies of the house painting business, they couldn't conscientiously say that the health of the house Jim was at work on demanded the lager, so Jim had to quit work and walk the biggest end of a mile to where Fred Handman vegetates, before he could get the lager, mix his paint and go on with his artistic imitations of rosewood, oak, walnut and cherry.

GARRARD COUNTY DEPARTMENT.

Lancaster. —Our town is teeming with lightning rod agents. Some 15 or 20 are stopping at the Hamilton House. —Miss Etta Everitt, of Maysville, opened a dancing school composed of twenty ladies and gentlemen, at the City Hall Wednesday evening. She comes to our community highly recommended by the leading citizens of Maysville. —Messrs. Denny and Kinnaird have returned from the mountains, where they bought about 500 acres of land owned by R. M. Bradley, which was sold by commissioners. The average price paid was $2 per acre and it is considered valuable coal land. —We noticed a fine traction threshing engine pass through town Wednesday, under management of John Fimmel, which seemed to be perfect in its mechanism and did not require horses to guide it on the road, as does the one owned by B. M. Burdett. At no distant day the steam engine will supersede the horse in hauling and farm work. —H. C. Kaufman has moved to the place recently bought of H. L. Noel. Mr. Noel left Tuesday for Knoxville, Tenn. His family will follow next week. W. M. Kerby has moved into the Pettus property. Rev. W. O. Goodloe has taken possession of the property vacated by Mr. Kirby. John Fimmel moved into the house on Lexington street vacated by Kaufman. —Misses Jennie Faulkner and Lizzie Walker expect to leave Monday morning to visit friends in Columbia, Tenn. They will be absent from home about five weeks. The Attorney General telegraphed W. O. Bradley last Friday to come to Washington to assist in prosecuting the star-routers. He left on Tuesday to obey the summons. This is quite an honor to our townsman. —Obe Pierce and Wm. Anderson, two precocious youths of this county, went to Richmond last Monday week, having in their possession two horses belonging to their respective fathers, which they disposed of to the highest bidder. The proceeds were appropriated to their own use and they at once jumped for Texas, or some other State. They belong to good families in this county. —One of the best sermons ever listened to in our town was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Fowle at the Christian church Sabbath morning on the subject of temperance. The good citizens of the community have declared war against the liquor traffic and they intend that its sale shall be discontinued in the county. A vote will be taken upon the subject at the next election and it is to be hoped that the majority of the people will cast their vote against the sale of whisky.
